

I would like to begin by thanking you for taking the time to review my application. I am seeking this internship because it aligns closely with my future goals. I plan to attend law school, and I am eager to gain a better understanding of what this process will entail. I have already begun preparing for the LSAT, and I believe that observing the daily responsibilities and work-life balance of professionals in this field will provide me with valuable insight into my future path.

I am a personable and outgoing individual who enjoys connecting with people from diverse backgrounds and experiences. I believe this quality will serve me well as I continue to grow personally and professionally. Learning the standards of professional work and gaining an inside perspective on how processes function within the Capitol and among those who serve there is an invaluable step toward my success in law school and beyond.

My interest in law is also rooted in family tradition—both my father and maternal grandfather practiced law—which has instilled in me a strong drive to pursue this field. Beyond that, I have always been passionate about problem-solving, working with people, and making decisions that benefit the greater community. I know that the opportunity to work in an office will not only allow me to contribute meaningfully in the present but also provide lessons and experiences that will guide me throughout my career.
